NURSING SERVICES PLAN
2017-2018
(NJAC 6A:16-2.1-2.5)

Parsippany-Troy Hills Township School District

The main function of the certified school nurses in the Parsippany-Troy Hills School District is to ensure that the children are healthy and ready to learn on a daily basis.

As health care providers, the school nurses utilize the nursing process; this includes assessing, planning, implementing, and evaluating nursing care in an ongoing manner. Formulating Individualized Health Care Plans (IHCPs) and Emergency Care Plans (ECPs) are two of the responsibilities of the school nurse in this role. These plans are utilized to facilitate the specific care needed for students with acute or chronic health concerns when required. The nurses also provide emergency aid and care for pupils and district personnel.

School nurses gather information regarding health histories, immunization records, communicable disease patterns, safety and current health information. Many times this includes consulting with teachers, parents, health care providers and health agencies. In addition, the school nurses plan and conduct yearly screening examinations and health appraisals, which include tests for vision, hearing, blood pressure, body mass index measurement, scoliosis and height and weight; making referrals as necessary and documenting all information.

Nurses must share important health-related information with students, parents, staff members, physicians, health care agencies, administration and government agencies. This is accomplished in person, in newsletters, by telephone, by mail and email, through website postings and flyers, during personal conferences, and during meetings (both committee and faculty).

In conjunction with the above services, school nurses refer students to many other staff members in their own building, such as the school psychologists, the student assistance counselor and school counselors. They also refer students, staff, and parents to private physicians, community health agencies and specialists as needed.

The Parsippany Troy-Hills School District has a large multicultural student population. With such wide diversity, school nurses fill a unique role by recognizing and providing specific treatments based on the health care needs of all cultures within the population. Proactive learning and research regarding various cultural beliefs and practices are necessary to maintain the health and safety of students, and thus, contributes to an environment conducive to learning. Through knowledge gained, each school's nurse can be a valuable resource for parents by offering referrals to appropriate health care facilities/practitioners that provide care specific to their particular beliefs and practices.

Nurses advocate for each child by helping their families to gain access to the medical care they need. In collaboration with the Section 504 Team/Child Study Team, the nurses also see to it that students with special needs have the proper medical accommodations to facilitate their learning. As an advocate, many times the nurses make referrals to outside agencies for dental and visual health, counseling, local police departments, and the Division of Child Protection and Permanency (DCP&P).

One of the most important roles for a certified school nurse is as an educator. The elementary nurses provide classroom instruction in all aspects of health in Grades K-5. The health curriculum includes units on personal safety and hygiene, nutrition and additionally allergies, dental health, the human body, germs and the topics of HIV, AIDS and puberty. Informal teaching is constantly taking place in the nurse's office as care is delivered and questions are asked. The nurses also give staff pertinent information about their own health and give guidance regarding their health concerns. Staff is also in-serviced by the nurses on a multitude of subjects, including: asthma, allergies, diabetes, epilepsy, child abuse, medications, blood-borne pathogens, delegate training for the administration of epinephrine, and various other topics. Some of these sessions take place at staff meetings, in small groups, or on an individual basis; the nurses decide which format best serves the group. Parents are educated in group meetings (PTSA or special presentations), by newsletter or in a formal letter that is sent home. Nursing websites are available at each school and maintained by the school nurse as an additional venue of communication and education for parents and students.

Certified school nurses bring information to the public and bring groups and organizations into the schools. Many programs on fire safety, bike safety, heart health, cancer awareness, infection control precautions, and many other health-related programs are made available through the nurses.

The Parsippany Troy-Hills School District has a large sports program with approximately seventy (70) sports offered throughout the school year, concentrated within two (2) high schools and two (2) middle schools. All medical paperwork must be gathered and processed with all information completed, prior to meeting with the school physician for approval, to participate in the sports program. Follow up documents must be obtained by the nurse for any new or changed diagnosis for any health condition. The nurses are also responsible for maintaining the records, and providing the coaches with required health training to meet all health care needs necessary for safe participation. This is in accordance with NJAC 6A:16-2.2.

A legal record for each student must be maintained and updated every time a student accesses the nurse's office. Medical notes, medications and any written correspondence from a medical professional must be recorded in the student's health record. State agencies also require yearly records of immunizations, tuberculosis testing, medical waste management and employee injury documentation. Each of these procedures is completed by the nurses. Lastly, in the Parsippany-Troy Hills School District, the nurses work in conjunction with the business office to ensure the efficiency of the Free and Reduced Child Nutrition Program.

NURSING SERVICES PLAN

Summary of Students with Special Health Care Needs (P.L. 1999c. 153 (C.18A:40-3.2))

Severity of health concerns for students can be classified in the following manner:

LEVEL I: Nursing Dependent: Nursing dependent students require 24 hour/day, one-to-one skilled nursing care for survival. Many are dependent on technological devices for breathing (i.e. a student on a ventilator) and/or require continuous nursing assessment and intervention. Without the use of the correct medical technology and nursing care, the student will experience irreversible damage or death.

LEVEL II: Medically Fragile: Students with complicated health care needs in this category face each day with the possibility of a life-threatening emergency requiring the skill and judgment of a professional nurse. Examples may include, but are not limited to: severe seizure disorders requiring medication, severe asthma, sterile procedures, tracheotomy care with suctioning, an unstable or newly diagnosed diabetic with unscheduled blood sugar monitoring and insulin injections, diabetics with insulin pumps requiring monitoring and asthmatics requiring nebulizer treatments.

LEVEL III: Medically Complex: Students with medically complex concerns require daily treatments or close monitoring by a professional nurse. They may have unstable physical and/or social-emotional conditions and the potential for a life-threatening event may exist. Examples include, but are not limited to, ADHD and on medication, anaphylactic event, cancer, immune disorders, moderate to severe asthma (requiring use of inhaler and peak flow monitoring), adolescent pregnancy, time-sensitive medications or medications with major side effects, unstable metabolic conditions, continuous or intermittent oxygen, and complex mental or emotional disorders.

LEVEL IV: Health Concerns: At this level the student's physical and/or social-emotional condition is currently uncomplicated and predictable. Occasional monitoring is required, varying from bi-weekly to annually. Examples include, but are not limited to, dental disease, migraine headaches, sensory impairments, stable neurological disorders, diabetes self-managed by the student, dietary restrictions, eating disorders, orthopedic conditions requiring accommodations and encopresis. In addition, stable conditions requiring both long and short term medications are of concern.
